

EPA Comment Number: 550-14

Received: August 22, 1999

To: Homepage Oppts/DC/USEPA/US@EPA
cc:

Subject FDA - -

FDA - -

Food mandatory regulations concerning animals, must be more humane. The slaughtering methods animals go through, on top of chickens' and other animals' health, transportation, and hiegene puts humans at risk of eating these unsanitary beings. There should be more stringent rules placed upon inspecting them with more money allocated for the USDA to do them.